

Tongue teaser

Olivado Avocado dressing

The bottle of Olivado Avocado dressing arrived just before our staff and families' Christmas barbecue, so we decided to share it with all staff and it made a nice addition to the selection of condiments to go with our salads. I also took it home for the family to have a preview taste the evening before. We liked the lemon and avocado flavour - especially the tang of the citrus, though decided we'd prefer the dressing added as a flavouring for barbecues or on Mexican salads (as the press release suggests) rather than on the rather basic lettuce salad we were having that evening. It was duly enjoyed at the staff barbecue next day and if you want to try it, you can purchase it in 250ml bottles at New World supermarkets and all good food stores. Each bottle retails for $6.50.

Marie Ward

we try before you buy

